

CHRIS KOZINA
Chief of Staff

---

Chris Kozina is chief human resources officer at MillerCoors, a position he was named to in June 2010. In this role, Chris is responsible for building and sustaining MillerCoors organizational and leadership capability, ensuring there's top talent in the right roles to deliver strong business performance.

Previously, Chris served in several leadership roles at MillerCoors. Most recently he was vice president, insights where his priority was building a more consumer- and customer-focused organization. Prior to that he served as chief of staff, managing and driving the priorities of the MillerCoors Leadership Team ensuring an enterprise approach to business challenges and opportunities.

Chris joined Miller Brewing Company as vice president of information services and chief information officer in March 2007.

Before joining Miller, Chris was with Accenture, as equity client partner – global consumer products. In this position, he worked with clients across North America, South America and Europe in the grocery retailer, household and personal care, food and beverage and other industries. He began his career as a financial analyst for IBM in 1991.

Chris earned a bachelor's degree in finance and banking, and urban land economics from the University of Wisconsin and an executive certificate from the Applied Executive Business Management Program at Northwestern University's Kellogg Graduate School of Business.